About us

Bossar is specialized only on 3 areas: web development, mobile development and ui/ux design. It was founded in 2017 in Ukraine, Kiev (GMT +2) by two young IT enthusiasts. We are not a big company yet, that's why we treat each client and his project with total dedication and involvement, which can not be said about large companies.

Our approach - Partnership, not outsourcing

Working in the market of web development, we found out that the main problem is that developers don't care much about the result, globally speaking.

Our main difference from outsourcing and other web/mob development companies is that we do not just sell working hours. Our goal is to solve the client's task as quickly and effectively as possible.

We clearly know "what should we do", and not "how much should we work on".

What we do

We provide our services to digital agencies, ecommerce companies, startups and small businesses around the world. We are a client-oriented company, based on customer requirements, certain technologies, time and resources. Our services include:

Mobile Development

Our working models

1. Fixed price

- We work on project details, creating specifications and all requirements
- We estimate hours and give customer a price
- We divide the project into stages (milestones) and client pay per stage
- Good for projects with defined scope, MVPs, fixed budget

2. Time & material

- Client pays for hours spent by our particular developers
- Hour rate depends on developer seniority, skills and experience
- Good for long-term projects with undefined/changeable scope
